

Using the internet, research three anti-aging creams currently on the market and how they're advertised to work. Compare what the companies are saying about how their products work to our current understanding of the biology of aging. Would you buy any of these products for yourself or someone else? Explain. (300 WORDS)