

Discuss how a doctor might perceive a patient who understands the role organelles play in diseases and disorders. Do you think doctors will appreciate their patients' knowledge? Does this knowledge make someone better able to advocate for themselves or a loved one who is a patient? (100 Words)