

CHAPTER 1: Introduction (4 pages)

Give theoretical background or little history on your topic, and find a way to connect your topic with background information or history of such topics

Purpose of the Research

State clearly the purpose of your research project and type of research questions etc. You have to be very clear here.

CHAPTER 2: Review of Literature(5 pages)

You have to find information about what type of previous work was done on your topic, what others have discovered, etc. This Section need to be written based on articles, books, and other information that you have reviewed for your research, complexity, and review of literature, accuracy of information

CHAPTER 3: Research Method (2 pages)

State clearly the type of METHODS that you used to conduct the research. What type of machines and materials you used, what type of instruments and software, how did you plan to collect data, your sample size, what type of variable that you controlled etc. Depends upon type of your research, this section will have one or more than one table.

Conclusion / SUMMARY (1 page)

End your paper with this section. State clearly highlight of your Research, major findings, what did you discover, what can be done in the future on similar topics.

Bibliography (1 page)

Appropriate cites and references (more than half of the references should be less than 1 ½ year old).

(A)Aesthetics

Overall layout, professional appearance, typographical refinement, easy access of information, grammar, spelling, form and style

(B) APA Style followed

State clearly the citations (internal or external) & follow this format

(C) Organization

Layout, appropriate length, tables and diagrams (tables/images and diagram needed in the paper).

(D) Title Page & Table of Contents